

Apocalypse Cow

Author: O R Sorrel

Age: 14 + Genre: Fiction - romance/comedy/horror

This is the book for you if you like ...

- Weird and gory zombie apocalypses.
- Outrageous characters and language.
- Funny and honest personal accounts.
- LGTBQ+ love stories.
- They Both Die at the End by Adam Silvera.
- Afterlove by Tanya Byrne.

Summary: Mel loves Sasha and dreams of a day that Sasha might reciprocate her feelings (even though she's straight) - so the fact that it's thirty degrees outside in January and hasn't rained for a year simply passes her by. But when domestic animals suddenly lethally turn on the human race, Mel finds herself marooned with Sasha's infuriating, posh boyfriend and school bully Ella - a complete disaster, she thinks – but her love-life turns on its head in the most extraordinary way (if she survives the apocalypse, that is). 'The end of the world has never been this much fun' - Lisa Williamson.

Extract: Nev and I sort of fell together as the only obvious queers in our school, and have been plotting our escape from the Capital of Clean-Shirt Heteronormativity ever since.

The cow stops pacing, its breath steaming up the glass and blurring its foaming mouth. I can't breathe. I can see Dorian in my periphery, slowly backing towards the stock-room. I want to run after him and barricade myself in there, too, but I'm frozen to the spot. I hear the stockroom door close.

I'm alone. I'm about to die.
